Quake, Gale, Tidal Wave
Editing Coolidge
Mr. Borah in Reverse
She Shot the Wife

By Arthur Brisbane

ALREADY WEAKENED, partly demolished by terrible earthquake shocks, many houses, palaces and churches in Naples were levelled yesterday afternoon by a severe gale, adding to the terror and loss of life. Then came a tidal wave driven by the gale.

King Victor Emmanuel started for Naples as soon as the first earthquake news came. A dispatch from Rome suggests that Pope Pius XI himself will make a tour of the stricken regions to reassure the terrified inhabitants.

After repeated earthquake shocks, with Vesuvius blazing menacingly in the background, a hurricane sweeping the city, thousands injured, 2000 dead, no wonder the people are frightened.

Calvin Coolidge wrote a history of the United States in 500 words to be engaved on a mountainside in South Dakota. Mr. Borglum, sculptor carving the mountain, changed the text. Mr. Coolidge disowned it, and will probably write another.

You feel as though you had read of Moses coming down from the mountain with the Ten Commandments, and Borglum changing the wording, possibly leaving out the word "NOT."

Politics in the fall will be mixed. Two years ago, Senator Borah, his noble mane shaking, fire in each eye, was telling the West, "elect Herbert Hoover, and see what HE will do for the farmer."

This fall the West will see Senator Borah, not quite so fiery, telling the farmers that farm board relief for farmers, in the language of the day, is a "flop."

The administration and Mr. Legge, head of the farm board, have done their best. They bought 69,000,000 bushels of the 1929 wheat crop "to stabilize prices."

If an individual did that it would be called "cornering."

When a man corners grain, he does it secretly. Uncle Sam did it openly.

Wicked board of trade men stopped gambling in wheat, began building grain elevators to provide space for wheat. They knew Uncle Sam would not sell.

As a result of "farm relief," wheat has dropped to its lowest price in 16 years.

Lady Owen, in Paris, rich, titled woman, fell in love with Dr. Gastaud. He, she says, reciprocated until she lent him 300,000 francs. Then he stopped reciprocating, went back to his wife and, only the vernacular describes it—gave Lady Owen "the air."

Lady Owen, thereupon, shot the wife, Mme. Gastaud, three times, principally in the stomach.

Smoking gold-tipped cigarettes rapidly, Lady Owen expressed indignant surprise when the police refused to set her free. Who can read the heart of woman?

Why shoot the poor wife instead of shooting the "air giver?"

All through the ages women have protected men and blamed each other.

Standard Oil of California, of which K. R. Kingsbury is president, announces that it will make no more gasoline than it can actually sell, and what is more important, that it will not sell anything to dealers that try to take away the business of their competitors by rate cutting.

The so-called "bootleg" dealers are outlawed by Standard Oil.

If other companies follow the example, it may help to stabilize the oil industry.

Sir Henri Deterding, head of the great Dutch-British Oil Co., that spreads literally all over the world, much greater in extent and power than Standard Oil, or any other, is an active man. For his amusement, he jumps horses over fences.

Also for his amusement, he has made some American oil men jump many hurdles. Our laws forbid an American company to do this and do that. You mustn't be too big. You must not, if you are American, organize a nation-wide distributing organization. But Deterding and his "Shell" Company can do anything.

At present, Sir Henri, real genius of industry, has turned to extracting fertilizer for farmers, from gas that goes to waste from oil wells.

It would be amusing if he gave American farmers cheaper fertilizers than they can get from their own fertilizer trust.

Deterding is the man who this year supplies the entire Jap-

ACCUSES FORD OF SPREADING COMMUNISM

Priest Cites One Case Where Thousands Failed to Get Jobs in Auto Plant

Detroit, July 25 (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower, Detroit, today told the congressional committee investigating Communistic activities in the United States that Henry Ford unwittingly was the cause of the spread of Communism.

Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, chairman of the committee, as did Fr. Coughlin, [illegible] remain the [illegible] session.

Fr. Coughlin [illegible] year ago [illegible] issued a statement [illegible] he required 30,000 more workers in his Detroit factory. This statement received wide publicity, he said, and resulted in the flocking to Detroit of more than 30,000 men from Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas and other Southern States. He said these men got no jobs.

The witness explained that the drawing of these men to Detroit was unintentional.

"It was done through ignorance, just as the peace ship was sent to Europe through ignorance," he said.

Rev. Fr. Coughlin added Ford's money is helping the Soviet government in Russia and referred to the $13,000,000 contract Ford signed with Soviet representatives.

Rev. Coughlin is widely known as a radio speaker, conducting weekly services from the shrine of the Little Flower on the outskirts of the city. He was called before the committee here today because of his recent series of radio addresses on Communism.

AUTOS SEIZED BY MUSSOLINI TO RUSH AID TO VICTIMS

Toll Grows as the Debris Is Combed for the Bodies; Food, Medicine Sent

Rome, July 25 (INS)—All available relief forces were rushed by Premier Mussolini today into the five provinces of Italy devastated by earthquakes. All private automobiles in Avellino and Foggia provinces were requisitioned by Fascist militiamen to send food supplies and medicines.

King Victor Emmanuel arrived at Rochetta this afternoon to inspect the work of relief and personally comfort victims.

Rome, uly 25 (AP)—A report at noon today showed that the deaths from Wednesday's earthquake amounted to 2375 in the Province of Avellino alone.

That figure brings the number of dead to nearly 3000, as the previous report for Avellino was only 1607 and the total for all points was 3015, including those killed by a hurricane near Treviso and Venice in the Piave river valley.

On the basis of that figure the new total stands at 2982.

A newly reported quake at Ariano and other death caused by hurricanes have increased the general death toll.

The new number for Avellino province was subdivided among the larger towns as follows:

Lacedonia, 600.
Aquilonia, 400.
Villanova, 400.
Montecalvo, 300.
Ariano, 300.
Anniosia, 120.
Rochetta, 120.

The estimate set yesterday for Villanova was 500.

The revised figures sent here from Rochetta by Gen Baistrocchi contrasted sharply with the government's total for Avellino.

The township hardest hit, according to Baistrocchi's figures, seems to be Lacedonia, with 600 dead. Villanova stood second with between 400 and 500 dead.

Gen. Baistrocchi, the minister of public works and the prefects of the stricken provinces met at Rochetta this forenoon to discuss relief work.

Celebrating his last-minute return to the Davis Cup squad, Big Bill Tilden sent the United States away to a lead by trouncing Jean Borotra, the bounding Basque of

WOMAN UNDER STOCK PROBE

Miss Clara Goldhurst, who came to the United States 13 years ago from Austria and is reputed to have gathered in about $500,000 in the stock "racket," had scores of clients in Boston, according to complaints made to the Boston Bureau.

Miss Goldhurst, the only woman publisher and editor of a stock tipster sheet, was recently enjoined from further sales of securities by Supreme Court Justice Lewis J. Fawcett in New York City.

The story of the woman's operations in Boston was brought to light by a resident of Mattapan, who invested $5750 in Glessonite products, a great part of it as a result of advice given by Miss Goldhurst in her market letter, called "From Ten to Three in Wall Street."

Helping along with additional advice to "buy and buy Glessonite" was A. Arthur Carter, better known as "Curly" Carter, ex-convict and notorious stock swindler. Carter also sent a tipster sheet, "The Market Financial Service," to Boston investors.

The Mattapan resident first bought 200 shares of Glessonite at $10 a share from a Boston stock salesman in 1926. After that purchase he was bombarded with Gold-

Society Divorcee of 2 Days Weds Her Driver

Mrs. Mabel R. Grabow, society woman, former wife of Edward R. Grabow, once a prominent hotel owner, today married her one-time chauffeur, Lewis McK. Turner, at Reno, where she obtained a divorce only two days ago.

Word received here indicated that the couple will make their home in San Diego, Cal., where Turner is a commercial airplane pilot.

Turner, following his discharge from the army in 1919, was engaged by Grabow as a chauffeur. At that time the Grabows were living in the Empire hotel in Boston. Turner accompanied the family to the Swampscott hotel, then owned by Grabow, and soon afterward was discharged.

He then traveled about the country and about a year ago enrolled in the Curtiss-Wright flying school at Georgetown.

Previous to taking up residence at Reno, Mrs. Grabow made her home in Atlantic City for six months.

Shortly after her arrival in Reno four months ago, Mrs. Grabow was joined by Turner and they were married almost immediately after the divorce decree was awarded.

Grabow for years was one of the most prominent hotel men in New England.

Man Knocked Out by Hornets' Sting

From now on Matthew Lang, of Grant st., East Weymouth, will give hornets a wide berth.

Matthew was looking for a necessary auto part in an old machine. He put his hand inside the car and into the middle of a hornet's nest. And what a reception from hornets. A passerby who had heard the cries for help rushed to Lang's aid and found him unconscious, stung from head to foot.

San Angelo, Tex., July 25 (AP)—Lee Gehlbach of Little Rock, Ark., got his Little Rocket plane down at the airport at 11:16:35 a. m. today, making the 400 miles from Houston in the All-American Derby in 7:15:35 hours. Gehlbach's total elapsed time was given as 16:38:07. He won $150 for first arrival from Houston.

Stub Quinby of Moline, Ill., dropped out of the sky at 11:33 a. m., negotiating the distance from Houston in 2:31:20 for a total elapsed time of 19:29:29. He won $100. Lowell Bayless of Springfield, Mass., was third. He received $50.

Schmeling Is Saved From Drowning

Berlin, July 25 (AP)—Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, today was rescued from Scharmuetzel Lake, southeast of Berlin, when his motorboat capsized during a storm.

The champion was speeding his boat when he upset in rough water. Another racer speeding behind him hauled Max out and the fighter motored home apparently none the worse for his spill.

Hub Prisoner and 4 Break Maine Jail

Norway, Me., July 25 (INS)—Five prisoners made a daring escape from the Oxford County jail at South Paris today. They sawed the bars of a cell block, jumped 16 feet and scaled a barbed wire fence by placing a pillow on top of it.

They are Ernest Clark, Boston; Albert Walker, Fryeburg, and Arthur Ayotte, John Segras and Lawrence Boushard, all of Rumford.

PRINCESS' AND PAULINA HERE

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of Nicholas Longworth, Speaker of the House, and daughter of former President Theodore Roosevelt, paid Boston a surprise visit en route to her summer home at Jamestown, R. I.

With "Princess Alice" came the treasure of the Longworth household, Paulina, aged 5, possessing a wealth of blonde curls and, even in childhood, the gracious manner that made her mother the belle of the White House.

Their stay in the Hub was of only about an hour's duration. Arriving by train from their Cincinnati home they changed almost at once at the South Station to a train for Jamestown.

Paulina like her mother, is the most delightful hostess imaginable and, too, like her mother declines to give interviews for publication.

As usual, Mrs. Longworth was fashion personified in a light brown whipcord tailored suit, wide-brim brown straw panama, fawn-colored hose and shoes. Paulina wore a white linen dress and, partially hiding her curls, a white straw hat. A maid traveled with them.

Speaker Longworth will join them later at Jamestown.

NEW HURRICANE IN PIAVE VALLEY ADDS TO DEATH ROLL IN ITALY

that swept down the Piave valley last night showed that 22 persons were killed, 100 were injured, and 200 houses damaged.

The storm tore down many buildings, principally at Farra di Soligana, Nervesa, Selva and Vidopago, and swept over a stretch of 25 miles.

Over most of the stricken regions an intense wave of heat is adding to the discomfort, but in the far north unseasonable snow fell on the peaks of the Dolomite mountains, in the Alpine region, and a severe storm swept the vicinity of Trento.

The Adige river went out of banks and other streams were swollen.

U. S. CONDOLENCES

Alexander Kirk of Chicago, charge d'affaires of the United States embassy, today personally presented the formal condolence of the American government to the Italian foreign office.

King Victor Emmanuel arrived at Rocchetta this afternoon to inspect the work of relief and personally comfort victims.

His Majesty reached the stricken center of the earthquake zone by train on the route over which supplies and medical aid had been pouring. He was greeted by his cousin-in-law, the Duchess of Aosta, her daughter-in-law, the Duchess of Apulia; Prince Boncompagni Ludovisi, governor of Rome, and a group of other government and Red Cross officials.

The undersecretary of public works, his minister, Civil Senator Cremonesi, president of the Red Cross, and the prefects of the provinces of the earthquake area greeted the ruler.

The King went by automobile to Melfi, whence he was to proceed through other townships.

IGNORE DUCE EDICT

Touched to the heart by the realization of inestimable numbers of homeless, ever-growing death lists and hospitals filled with injured, the Italian people today disregarded the edict of Premier Mussolini against public and private subscription for the victims and united in spontaneous offerings which steadily flowed into the premier's office.

Italy's relief subscriptions at noon had mounted to a total of a million lire. Banks and other institutions and private individuals continued to place funds at the government's disposal, particularly in the southern earthquake zone.

The under secretary of public works said today that nine townships were destroyed or severely damaged in Avellino province and four others less seriously affected, reported casualties. There was none killed in Bari, according to official figures.

Twenty towns in Benevento reported their dead whose totals were included in the tabulation. Campo Basso lost 12 townships, but reported no dead. Ninety-three were dead in Foggia, latest official reports said, four townships being seriously damaged. The official roll listed the dead in Naples today at nine.

Potenza's dead, the state department reported, was fixed today at 233.

1000 Missing During Avellino Rollcalls

Avellino, Italy, July 25 (AP)—One thousand persons thus far have failed to answer the frequent rollcalls held at Villanova since Wednesday's earthquakes, but this does not necessarily mean that they all are dead.

President Vicidomini of Avellino Province attributed many absences to terror-stricken villagers wandering in the fields or having gone to neighboring villages.

Avellino's second day following the quake began with additional burials in scattered sections of the countryside, little groups following silently and sadly the bodies of those who were taken from them by an outburst of Nature.

PRIESTS KEPT BUSY

Parish priests who were spared by the disaster are working night and day to comfort the injured and in burying the dead, and many more have been called in from parishes not stricken.

The prefect told the Associated Press correspondent of the difficulty in making an accurate check of the deaths in his district.

The villages of his jurisdiction are scattered 30 to 40 miles apart, and are on both sides of the Apennines—inaccessible even in normal times.

Many of those were hard hit and the official figure of dead for the province set thus far, 2315, is expected to mount when all reports are in.

The disaster was made worse for the villages by the fact that many of them were constructed in rows on mountain sides, so that when the one at the top was stricken the others were knocked down by the descending debris like rows of tin soldiers.

Many poor families of this district are spending their meager savings on taxicab rides from the spared cities into the country, searching frantically for missing relatives.

Cars are scarce and at a premium, just because of the difficulty of telephoning or telegraphing with impaired facilities the automobile furnishes the best way to obtain news.

RADIO AIDS RELIEF

Relief work is the chief activity all through the district and wireless stations have been installed to facilitate it.

Many towns are mere heaps of ruins. At Lacedonia all the churches were destroyed, that of St. Rocco having only the status of its patron saint left standing over the door.

At Aquilonia militiamen have been working ceaselessly for 24 hours to extricate a woman whose cries, steadily becoming feebler, can be heard from the wreckage of her house.

In Ariano a new earthshock at about 10 a. m. yesterday added another death to the long list.

The registry office toppled and an elderly woman was killed when debris fell upon her.

All the inhabitants were terror-stricken by the new shock. An officer of the carabinieri, a militia commander and a newspaper man narrowly escaped injury.

Melfi and its famous Frederick II castle are in complete ruin, with 160 dead reported and the houses all uninhabitable.

Mayor Casassa Cables Sympathy of Revere

Mayor Casassa of Revere today cabled King Victor Emmanuel of Italy sympathy and offers of assistance from citizens of Revere to the stricken populace in the earthquake zone.

At the same time the Mayor announced the organization of a central committee in Revere to accept contributions for the relief of the sufferers.

Unico Club Expresses Gratitude to Mayor

The Unico Club, composed of leading Italian-American citizens of Boston, in a letter to Mayor Curley today, expressed appreciation for his interest in the affairs of their stricken compatriots in the earthquake regions of the mother country and volunteered co-operation in any movement he might launch to assist the survivors.

Babies Never Mixed; Love Spurns Science

Chicago, July 25 (AP)—The mix-up over the Bamberger-Watkins babies was ironed out at a conference today at which it was decided the babies of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bamberger and Mr. and Mrs. Watkins were never mixed up at all.

This decision, reached by agreement between the parents, was opposed to that of a group of scientists who late yesterday decided the babies had been switched at Englewood Hospital where they were born.

Dr. Arnold Kegel, health commissioner, was astounded when informed of the decision. He said he would consider whether to pursue the case further in the interest of public policy.

The parents, apparently in complete accord, took the babies and went home. They said the incident was closed as far as they were concerned.

The parents had demanded an investigation following discovery that an adhesive tape on the back of the Bamberger baby bore the name "Watkins" and that a similar tape on the Watkins baby was marked "Bamberger." They now believe that the tapes had been washed off at the hospital when both babies were being bathed and that a nurse, in haste, put them on the wrong infants.

The shape of the babies' heads was responsible for the final agreement. The Bambergers' baby was short third. The Watkins baby was a first-born. A committee of physicians who met with the parents last night agreed that a temporarily oval-shaped head, such as the Watkins baby has, is natural in the case of a first born. The Bamberger baby's head is round.

The agreement as to parentage was reached at a conference held at the Keystone Hospital participated in by the parents and six physicians.

Following the action of Dr. Kegel's commission yesterday, Watkins announced himself willing to agree and to switch babies. Bamberger, however, refused, and with Mrs. Bamberger and the baby disappeared. He also announced that he would resist any attempt to take the baby by force. This brought a statement from Watkins to the effect that he would seek the child by court action.

It was while Dr. Kegel was attempting to find Bamberger that the parents met at the Keystone Hospital and finally accepted the decision of the physicians that the babies they have are really their own.

CAMBRIDGE MAN STIRS LEGION CONVENTION

Proposes That Officers Hold Over in Recognition of Their Services

Williamstown, July 25 (AP)—A minor bomb was exploded in this morning's session of the state department of the American Legion when a representative of a Cambridge post proposed an amendment to the by-laws whereby the present state officers would hold office until after the coming national convention in Boston, in recognition of their work in arranging the national gathering.

Williamstown, July 25 (AP)—A minor bomb was exploded in this morning's session of the state department of the American Legion when a representative of a Cambridge post proposed an amendment to the by-laws whereby the present state officers would hold office until after the coming national convention in Boston, in recognition of their work in arranging the national gathering.

Under the rules action must be deferred for 24 hours. While much appreciation is being expressed for the work of State Commander John J. O'Connell of Amherst, and his associates, it appeared likely from sentiment expressed that there would be no departure from the traditional procedure.

Guests of the convention today included Col. Frederick H. Payne of Greenfield, Assistant Secretary of War; Congressman Allen T. Treadway of Stockbridge, and Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell. The session opened with 586 of a total of 718 accredited delegates present.

NICHOLS GOES UNDER KNIFE

Ex-Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols was operated on for an inguinal hernia today at the Charlesgate Hospital, Cambridge.

Late this afternoon he was reported "doing very well" by Dr. John H. Cunningham, Jr., of 46 Gloucester st., Back Bay, who performed the operation.

The former mayor had not been feeling well for several weeks and decided to have the operation now in spite of the hot weather which might possibly mitigate against his chances for a rapid recovery.

After a thorough physical examination, Dr. Cunningham pronounced him fit to undergo the ordeal.

A few weeks on the sands at Duxbury had put him in shape. Mrs. Nichols and little Marjorie Nichols were waiting at that South Shore place today to hear the result of the operation.

nese navy with oil. He gets the oil from American wells and sells to Japan at a price lower than the United States Navy ever pays for the same oil.

Every morning, on coldest winter days, Deterding takes a cold bath out of doors. If the water is frozen, his "man" chops away the ice, and Deterding jumps into his pool, running around the edge of it afterward in his wet bathing suit, until he feels warmer.

He has made some American oil men know how that cold plunge feels.

Dr. Janet Eads How, lifelong friend of poor men, is dead of starvation, leaving perhaps $1,000,000. He believed that abstention from food could cure anything. His theory cost him his life.

His money is left to help the most unfortunate class of unemployed, the "hoboes," whose friend he had always been.

The good example of sympathy is worth $1,000,000, wisely spent or otherwise. But $5000 spent on ambitious youth might do more for the poor than $1,000,000,000 spent on confessed failure.

The work of one man, Edison, has paid to workers $1,000,000 for every dollar that How leaves to "hoboes." It will continue paying billions in wages, and profits, for generations to come.

Afraid to Speak as They Sit Beside Ruins at Ariano, Center of Quake

Ariano, Italy, July 25—The horrible tangles of towns and cities; the mass of corpses and the straggling, crazed remnants of once large families, who roam the crooked highways of the earthquake zone, are so terrible that description would be called imaginative.

The entire 75-mile wide expanse across Italy, from the Tyrrhenian Sea to the Adriatic, where the quake took its awful to toll, may best be described in these words: Dead and maimed, and lost cities.

Ariano the very epicenter of the earthquake, which has been named the "vulture earthquake" because it centered near Monte Vulture, an extinct volcano, was reached from Avellino, some miles east of Naples.

AFRAID TO SPEAK

The spectacle of fright and desolation offered by the towns of Ariana, Monte Calvo, Villanova, Del Battista, San Sossio, Sannagola, Baronia, Zungoli and Montaguto is hardly believable. We (our party) believed that we had discovered another world, a world of ancient times that had been destroyed—but we knew that it was our country lying dead where the earthquake had struck.

While we were going through the main national highway of Apulia, at the first sight of dawn we were approaching the center of the catastrophe. All along the dusty roads of the border, peasants and their halved families were sadly, almost dumbly, seated around bonfires, afraid to speak, afraid to move.

WHOLE FAMILIES VANISH

Not even were they moved when occasional relief automobiles appeared; they took their doles of food, water, medicine and clothes and sat back again by the bonfires; afraid to ask the news of the horror and destruction of the cities they had fled and the other villages in the zone.

Mrs. Roosevelt Scores "Vampire" Mates

New York, July 25—A sense of partnership in marriage, a recognition between husband and wife that each is equally responsible with the other for the success of the home and the family—that is the major requirement for truly successful marriage and family life under modern conditions, in the judgment of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt

Besides being the mother of five children, a grandmother and hostess of the executive mansion, she is a furniture manufacturer, teacher in a girls' school and a political figure in her own right. Her views are expressed in the August issue of Good Housekeeping.

The cause of disaster in many unsuccessful marriages, Mrs. Roosevelt believes, is the "vampire husband" or the "vampire wife."

"Also, we have the 'vampire wife,' she says. "Daily we see women who look upon their husbands purely as a source of supply and seem to think that their husbands should sacrifice everything for them. They take all and give nothing in return. The relationship in either case may be successful for one but never for both."

$325,000 Jewels Scattered In British Air Crash

London, July 25 (AP)—The Daily Express says that jewels valued at £65,000 (about $325,000) were scattered over the ground near Mepham, Kent, at the time of Monday's airplane disaster, in which six persons, including three of the non-stop fliers perished. Only a few of them have been recovered.

Viscountess Edgard

The jewels in question belonged to the late Viscountess Edgard de Loeffler, both of whom were wearing pearl necklaces and diamond brooches. Those of the Viscountess Edgard were valued at £25,000, and those of Mrs. Loeffler at £40,000.

WHERE MANY LOST LIVES

WITH THE DEATH TOLL in the Italian earthquake still mounting, government officials turned their attention to bringing aid to the homeless. These pictures show views of three sections where the earthquake placed its hand of destruction. The picture at the left shows peasant houses in Apulia. Strange as it seems, the houses constructed of "trully" resisted the earth shocks much better than houses constructed in a more modern manner. The center picture shows the famous Grand Hotel in Sorrento, visited annually by hundreds of Americans, now a pile of ruins. The picture at the right shows the peaceful town of Muro Lucano, in the province of Potenza, where the loss of life from the earthquake ran high.

COOK GOVERNOR FOR A DAY

State Auditor Alonzo B. Cook, who has several times overridden the opposition of Republican party leaders to campaign for the post he has held for 15 years, was acting Governor today.

Governor Allen was in New York, Lieut.-Gov. Youngman was at the state convention of the American Legion in Williamstown, Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook was out of town and Treasurer John W. Haigis also was away.

In short, it was the hot, muggy weather more than anything else that elevated Cook to the top rung of the ladder temporarily.

Modestly he did not go to the Governor's office, but had a paper which it was necessary for him to sign taken to his regular office. This was a request on the Governor of Pennsylvania for extradition of a fugitive.

Had Cook not been at the State House, the honor would have descended to Attorney-General Joseph E. Warner, who is next in line under the Constitution.

Hub Offices Aid Hunt for Kin in Quake Zone

With thousands of Italians throughout Greater Boston seeking information as to the fate of relatives and friends in the earthquake zone of Italy, offices of communication were opened today by the American Red Cross at 45 Newbury st. and by the Sons of Italy at 256 Hanover st.

During the day the offices were besieged with requests for information, but only scant personal details came from the stricken area. It was announced at Red Cross headquarters that the Naples branch had cabled that every effort was being made to gather names of the dead and injured, together with those of the survivors.

Because of the tremendous obstacles encountered by Red Cross and Government relief workers in the stricken zones the task of compiling names is difficult, but it was thought that another 24 hours would bring response to requests for identification of the dead.

Interpreters provided by the Italian Women's Club of Boston are on duty at each office to aid persons wishing to cable for information.

Relatives of Joseph Pagliarulo of 136 Prince st., who is visiting his parents in Sossia Baronia, a village in the heart of the earthquake zone, were fearful for his safety and that of his wife and two children who accompanied him.

Angelo Salerno of 375 Lovell st., East Boston, is also visiting relatives in the area. His wife and five daughters sought word of his fate at the office of the Red Cross today.

Boston members of the Sons of Italy were awaiting word from Supreme Master John Di Silvestro of Philadelphia today as to what shall be done by the society in connection with the Italian earthquake.

Assistant Supreme Master Saverio Romano of Boston said local Italians were ready to do all they could to relieve the suffering of those in the quake zone, but in view of Premier Mussolini's statement that the government itself would meet the situation, it was decided to ask the supreme master's advise.

OUST PARENTS OF 'CITIZENS'

Providence, July 25 (AP)—Four tiny American citizens by birth, the eldest only four years of age, were on their way to Montreal today with their deported parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fabrian Lavole of this city. The parents, Federal inspectors say, entered the country illegally April 12, 1926.

Under present law, any person deported may never again enter the United States legally. Mr. and Mrs. Lavoie took the children to Canada rather than be separated from them. The children may re-enter the United States at any time and are entitled to the protection of the United States government wherever they may go.

The parents are natives of St. Octave, County Metan, Province of Quebec.

BAUER ATTACK STIRS ROTARY

Haverhill, July 25—Remarks reported to have been made by former Mayor Ralph S. Bauer of Lynn during his address before the Rotary club yesterday attacking a leading member of the New Hampshire Congressional delegation for alleged drinking and also referring to scenes at some recent Amesbury meeting, has raised a storm of protest.

Commenting on Bauer's address, a leading Rotarian declared it was the most inconsistent address he ever listened to. He said Bauer should have been shut off during his talk.

He said Bauer had been allotted a half hour for his address, but had talked 45 minutes, which, he declared, "was 45 minutes too long."

Reviewing his own administration, Bauer recalled his battle to close 131 speakeasies he said existed in Lynn when he took office and his efforts to curb radical speakers in that city.

Methuen, July 25—Authorities of this town have appealed to the State and federal authorities for assistance in ridding the Brown st. residential section of larval crickets, pests that have infested the section for the past several days and in some cases threatened to drive families from their homes.

The visitation of the horde of crickets to the section was first brought to the attention of Supt. John H. Learned of the moth department and Albert Slack of the board of health several days ago.

The authorities ordered the spraying of walls, roofs and garden shrubbery which apparently has little effect. Persons residing in the section reported that the crickets have gone through the entire house, filling crevices in attics and closets and contaminating food supplies.

WOMAN WIZARD UNDER FIRE IN STOCK QUERY

hurst and Carter tipster sheets urging him to buy more.

Quarterly dividends of 10 per cent came to Mattapan and finally a fast talking salesman from New York dropped in. As an argument for an additional purchase, he pointed to the payment of the dividends and also to the fact that Gleasonite was being recommended by "that great market expert, A. Arthur Carter, and that successor to Hetty Green as a financial wizardress, Clara Goldhurst."

DIVIDENDS STOP

Mr. X, of Mattapan, was impressed. And when the salesman stopped talking he had purchased 300 more shares, but this time at the advanced price of $12.50 per share.

After seven payments the dividends stopped. The Carter, Goldhurst crowd lost interest and no market was reported. Now, however, a stockholders' committee, convinced that Gleasonite Products can be made sound, are reorganizing. Racketeering stock salesmen have been driven out and the outstanding debts have been paid, according to a recent statement.

Mr. X cherishes a volume of correspondence from Miss Goldhurst. A great deal of it tells what a great help she was to United States Steel and similar stock. She consistently advised purchase of many stocks, the sale of which is now being investigated by Asst. Atty.-Gen. Louis H. Sawyer, in charge of the state stock fraud inquiry.

The correspondence from Miss Goldhurst has been turned over to Sawyer. He expressed interest in one letter with the signature, "Clara Goldhurst." It contained this suggestion:

"I also wish you to send me a list of your holdings in the market and I will be glad to analyze them for you, advising you which to sell and which to hold for higher levels.

"Keep in touch with me and do not miss the information I have from time to time.

"Should you be interested in PUTS AND CALLS information, I will also be glad to keep you advised on some closely written calls."

Mr. X complained that part of his investment in Gleasonite consisted of gilt edge stocks, which he gave in exchange for Gleasonite.

Miss Goldhurst's brother, Henry, was recently convicted of "bucket shop" charges in New York. He was one of the brokers who figured in the market operations of Bishop James Cannon Jr., which were recently aired in the United States Senate.

EXCHANGED STOCK

Sawyer today asked the Department of Public Utilities for a transcript of the evidence presented in the hearing of complaints against Lou K. Dichter, stock salesman operating out of a Washington st. brokerage, by four women who invested $110,000 in a trust company stock through Dichter and now charge him with misrepresentation.

The fourth woman to appear against Dichter was Miss Johanna Nihan of Somerville. Yesterday she testified before Director John C. Hull of the securities division of the department, that she had given Dichter $10,000 worth of Associated Gas stock in exchange for the trust company stock.

On Wednesday, Anna C. Rickerson of New Bedford, who invested $70,000; Mrs. Delia Howland of South Dartmouth and Ada W. Meharg of Medford, who invested $23,600 between them, said they had purchased the trust company stock on misrepresentation.

Decision on the complaints will be announced next week.

Sawyer today resumed the questioning of salesmen against whom complaints were made to the Boston Evening American Stock Fraud Bureau. Among the salesmen called to the State House this morning were several who had specialized in uncertain oil and mining stocks.

It was also announced that the questioning of salesmen of stock in the Holland Far East tea coffee and cocoa corporation will be resumed Monday.

Among those scheduled to appear at that time is Harry Japson, the high-pressure man of the stock crew.

Cardington, Eng., July 25 (AP)—The British dirigible R-100 left its hangar this forenoon and was attached to its mooring mast preparatory to a 24-hour trial flight starting tonight. If the test is satisfactory the R-100 probably will start for Canada in three or four days.

Present plans would permit the airship to arrive in Canada about August 1.

Hold Two in Probe of Woman Found Starved

Chicago, July 25 (AP)—The police last night walked in upon a strange scene in the cottage where Miss Dina Schreiner lived.

Miss Schreiner, 55 years old, speechless and deaf from lack of nourishment, lay on a bed. Shrunk by starvation from a normal weight of 100 pounds to 38. Seated watching her were her brother-in-law, Jacob Pfeiffer, 78 years old, and her nephew, Joseph Shea, 37.

An ambulance was called and the woman moved to a hospital. Shortly afterward she was dead. She had fasted so long that physicians dared give her only a mixture of milk and water, and even this was fed to her with a medicine dropper.

Pfeiffer and Shea were ordered held.

AGAIN DEMANDS BUTLER BARE 'SLUSH DEAL'

Conrad W. Crooker, general counsel for the Liberal Civic League, today made a second attempt to "smoke out" William M. Butler, candidate for the G. O. P. nomination for U. S. Senator, on reports of a big slush fund raised for Butler.

In a communication to the candidate, Crooker declared Butler's continued reticent to enlighten the public will "amply justify our appeal to the Congressional campaign committee for a sweeping inquiry."

Referring to the statement of Frederick H. Prince that he is supporting Butler, Crooker also demanded to know how much money "big business" has contributed.

OFFER BIG EXPENSES

The letter says in part:

"The reported admission of Frederick H. Prince that he is "decidedly interested" in your nomination for the United States Senate and his reported statement that business requires a man of your business acumen and ability in that office coupled with your failure to make any reply to the inquiry that was submitted to you yesterday by the Liberal Civic League, Inc., relative to the truth or falsity of reports as to the magnitude of contributions received and expenditures made or incurred in connection with your campaign constitutes an admission of much, if not all, of what is being said in this connection.

"The issue raised by our inquiry rests upon such a broad foundation of public report and alleged common knowledge that it cannot be brushed aside as silly or fantastic by you or Mr. Prince.

"Enough is known as to the extent of the visible activities in the interest of your campaign to justify the belief that the aggregate spent in your interest up to the present has reached a staggering total.

"The three elaborately equipped headquarters functioning for your interest in this city alone with their very considerable personnel represents a large weekly expenditure.

TO COST $500,000

"The state-wide circularization among practically every class that has been carried on in your interest represents a major expenditure for postage and printing.

"Your commitments for radio broadcasting through the various stations is another major expense item. Bill-boarding and pledge card expense has already involved a total of not less than $80,000.

"There is constant report reaching us of individuals in various parts of the state who have received retainers in your interest of $500 apiece.

"A campaign maintained at this pace and upon such a basis of expenditure from now until the date of the primary, a month and a half away, might well be expected to cost in the aggregate at least a half million dollars.

"The United States Senate has established a definite and conclusive policy with regard to expenditures in primary campaigns. Wherever it appears that expenditures total an extravagant, unreasonable amount, the Senate has, as in the case of Mr. Vare, refused to seat the candidate in question.

"If, as Mr. Prince intimates, big business is "decidedly interested," the people are fairly entitled to know how much money big business has already contributed or promised to contribute to bring about your nomination and to head off an 'experiment.'

"It lies entirely with you as to how far it shall be necessary at this time for the Liberal Civic League, Inc., to call in the assistance of the congressional campaign committee to clarify this situation. Very truly yours,

"C. W. CROOKER,
"Gen. Counsel."

London, July 25 (AP)—The London correspondent of the Daily Express says Egypt is bordering on revolution and that the Wafdists (Nationalists) will hold a session of Parliament outside of the Parliamentary building in Cairo tomorrow.

As a result, he adds, troops have been concentrated in the capital and there is grave danger of a serious clash.

JAMS AND JELLIES TIPS

From Martha Lee's Friday morning broadcast over WHDH by the Boston Evening American.

THE MODERN husband may be unwillingly convinced that wives can bring home satisfactory pay envelopes, but he'll never really believe she can do full justice to the art of housekeeping at the same time until he sees alluring rows of jams, jellies and preserves sitting sweetly and complacently on the top shelves of the near-kitchen.

Martha Lee

In mother's day the business of putting up" and "putting down" was surrounded with such an air of concentration and feminine mystery that the poor man still thinks it takes black magic to produce a dozen jars of spiced peaches.

And so, Mrs. Modern Housewife, if you want to step up a couple of dozen pegs in friend husband's estimation, take a hint from me and brush up on a few basic rules some Saturday afternoon when he's playing golf or even take a day or two out of that prized vacation, and then hear him brag about what a great little housekeeper you are. I'd advise you to keep most of the result "dark" until around Christmas time if you expect it to last, though. Here are some good foundation rules for making jelly, conserve, pickles and relish.

RULE 1 is to avoid over-ripe fruits.

RULE 2 is to wash and drain the fruits.

Stems are not removed from currants but leaves are. Mash fruit well with wooden potato masher in heavy preserving kettle and heat very slowly. Any proportion of the two fruits can be used. Be careful that the fruit does not stick and scorch. When thoroughly hot, pour into jelly bag. Do not squeeze. Let hang over night, and in the morning drain the juice again. Strain through flannel or heavy cutting flannel for extra clearness.

Place in a wide kettle with a heavy bottom. Add an equal quantity of sugar and ¼ tsp. of butter. Stir. Test for jellying consistency when it reaches 218 F. Or you can use the two drop test. To test it, first your jelly drips off along the spoon, then it forms a T.

Then two drops drip off the T. When the water is added the jellying point is reached at once without long boiling and loss of flavor. Water can be added to fruit pulp for a second extraction of jelly, which will not be as clear as the fruit pulp can be used for jam.

CUCUMBER PICKLES

Wash one peck of cucumbers. Pack into a 3-gallon stone jar. Cover with 1 cup of ground horseradish, 4 quarts of vinegar, in which 3 cups of sugar have been dissolved, 1 cup of brown sugar, 1 cup of salt, 1 cup of pickling spices, 1 tsp. alum. Cover with a layer of grapeleaves and a weighted plate. These will be ready for use in a week and may be repacked into bottles if desired.

UNCOOKED VEGETABLE RELISH

One peck ripe tomatoes, chopped and drained, 2 cups of diced celery, 6 onions, 6 red sweet peppers, ¼ cup of salt, 2 tbsps. mustard seed, 2 quarts of strong cider vinegar. Chop fine, mix well and seal in sterile jars without cooking.

These are all I have room for today, but Martha's files are full and running over with recipes for every sort of jam and preserve there ever was, and they're yours for the asking. Just drop a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Boston Evening American at 5 Winthrop Square, and they will come to you at once.

Faithfully yours,

Martha Lee

Good Summer Breakfast

What we eat in the summertime is of even greater importance than what we eat in the winter, because not only must we eat lightly and coolingly, but of foods that nevertheless build energy to resist the nerve wear and tear of oppressive heat. If you're tired and wilty even before you get to the office, look to your breakfast, for the fault is probably there.

Do you consume the well-known "sinker and coffee" in a rush and then run out for a soda at 10:30 to keep you going until lunch time? Try instead a bowl of crispy tempting cornflakes dotted with fresh berries or sliced fruit, a dash of sugar and a generous portion of cool milk or cream. You'll be surprised at the added pep you have, even in sultry weather, and if you're good to yourself you'll keep up the treatment and folks will wonder how you keep "on the go so" these days.

Our favorite is made of pure corn in thin crisp flakes delicately blended with malt, sugar and salt. Served with cream, fruit or berries, they form an ideal breakfast, especially for summer when heavier dishes fail to tempt the jaded palate. Name on request, of course, and some recipes if you like, showing many delicious dishes that can be made from this versatile cereal.

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

Sift 2 cups flour, 3 tsps. baking powder, 4 tbsps. sugar, ½ tsp. salt. Add 2 eggs, 4 tbsps. melted butter, 1 cup milk. Beat thoroughly. Last of all, add 1 cup blueberries slightly floured. Bake in muffin tins in moderate oven 375 F.

Use a rubber band to fasten cloth stretched over a bowl before pouring on boiling water to take out stains.

Milk will keep much longer without souring if a pinch of salt is added to the milk when fresh.

To make pancakes without smoking up the house, make a little bag of salt and use it to rub the griddle in place of the grease. The cakes will not stick and no odors or smoke will arise.

Sheets, tablecloths and napkins will iron easier and the salvage edge will not stretch unevenly if when wringing in damper you gather the salvage edges in your hand and wring them in that position.

MarketWatch Tower

Although corn is becoming a little more plentiful and shell beans have arrived, Boston's succotash season won't be in full swing for several weeks yet. It's a sad fact that tomato prices are a bit higher than a week ago, but yellow summer squash is cheaper, and wax and green beans are seldom more than 3 lbs for 25c, and often 5 lbs. for a quarter. Native beets and cabbages are another outstanding vegetable buy. For tonight's dinner, why not a vegetable plate of new cabbage, baked in cream sauce with cheese, cold beets with lemon juice and minced parsley, hot summer squash and for good measure a generous order of swordfish? That's what is scheduled for the Lea family, anyway.

All berries are plentiful and reasonable with exception of currants and gooseberries, which are a bit higher. Blueberries and raspberries are especially good and low priced. I found some red striped William apples on the fruit counter and in the meat and fish market I was surprised at the price asked for fancy brisket—30 to 35c. Other corned beef cuts were lower in price. Fowl is a bit higher, but broilers and ducklings are reasonable and I'd suggest them for Sunday dinner. Fresh fish prices help the economical housewife—and who of us doesn't strive to be that in these days? Mackerel are especially plentiful and good at 10c. a pound.

Women's Exchange

Mrs. M. R. of Suffolk st., Maldan, Mass., says: "Is there any way, besides experience, to learn how to use a cake decorator? I always have a great deal of trouble. Can someone help me?

"Won't someone tell me how to wash and iron white silk crepe so it will not yellow."

CURRANT CONSERVE

Measure one quart of slightly cooked currants, one pint of crushed pineapple, one cup of seedless raisins and one orange sliced thin, rind and all. Cook until orange rind is tender. Add 2 cups of sugar and stir carefully till thickened. Add one-half cup of broken nuts (pecans preferably) let heat through thoroughly and pour into sterile jelly glasses.

HAM AND TOMATO GRILL

Take a slice of boiled ham, a quarter of an inch thick and about three inches squar. Spread with prepared mustard. On top of this place a thin slice of American cheese and a slice of tomato. Grill under the broiler until the cheese is melted and tomato a delicate brown.

LITTLE PACKAGES OF SACHET in bureau drawers will give your underwear a delicate perfume without the strong effect of perfums directly applied to one's clothing.

Boil pork sausages gently for three minutes before frying. This prevents shrinking.

Tea Is Most Refreshing

Feel kind of limp and ragged these hot days? Drink gallons of ice water and other cold drinks without much relief? Cup an ear while I murmur a secret. Tea, iced or hot, with lemon or cream, will satisfy that craving for a thirst quencher and, even better, will stimulate tired nerves and leave you fresh and smiling.

The best time to take your tea is at noon, with your luncheon. The appetite is inclined to be "pecky" in hot weather and to long for strange and curious foods, but it is not always wise to give way to this craving for the unusual, as it's apt to play havoc with the digestion. Order some fresh toast, plain or cinammon, with jam or marmalade and a pot of fragrant tea. Take your time, linger over it, and inhale the aroma as you drink. In 10 or 15 minutes you'll be marvelously freshened and ready for the afternoon, come what may!

AFTER BLANKETS HAVE BEEN WASHED and dried, and are still on the line, beat with a carpet beater to make the wool light and soft again.

Pickled Peaches

8 pounds peaches
4 pounds sugar
1 quart cider vinegar
2 ounces stick cinnamon
2 ounces whole cloves

Boil sugar, vinegar and spices 10 minutes. Put in the peaches. When tender, pack in jars, pour syrup over peaches and seal.

DETROIT MAN IN CAR WITH GIRL SHOT DOWN

Detroit, July 25—Jack Brown, 24, released recently from the Detroit house of correction, where he served 60 days for assault and battery, was shot and killed early today while sitting in an automobile on Fourth ave., with a woman companion, Miss Littlefield.

Police said Brown was slain by a jealous suitor of Miss Littlefield. She refused to name the slayer.

The slaying of Brown was the second in three days and the twelfth killing since the gang war began three weeks ago. A climax in the carnival of murders was reached Wednesday when three gunmen shot and killed Gerald "Jerry" Buckley, radio announcer and political commentator of radio station WMBC.

While state troops and police last night were raiding speakeasies and underworld hangouts police arrested John Klein, movie operator, who sat in the lobby of the La Salle Hotel beside Buckley when he was slain.

He was questioned by police immediately after Buckley was shot, but was later released. He was taken in custody again as a witness.

Another development came when detectives reported they had traced the woman who called Buckley on the telephone and made an appointment to meet him in the hotel lobby. They said she is a night club hostess.

NO TROUBLE AT ALL NOW

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Has Benefitted This Woman

Millions today are eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

The cause of constipation is the lack of roughage in food. Add sufficient roughage and constipation disappears. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is nearly all roughage.

Here is a letter from Mrs. H. Gilbert, 107 E. Knight Ave., Collingswood, N. J., which will be interesting to many sufferers:

"I had a very serious operation in October and when I came from the hospital my main trouble was constipation. One day I said to the doctor, 'I am going to eat ALL-BRAN,' and since I started I have no trouble whatever. So you see, I can't praise it enough and am always telling my friends what it did for me."

You will enjoy the nut-like flavor of this delicious, ready-to-eat cereal. It is rich in iron, and when eaten with milk or fruit juices, adds important vitamins to the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an essential in any reducing diet. Your grocer has it in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

EDITOR TAKES SECRET BRIDE IN ROMANCE

A newspaper office romance was revealed last night with the announcement at the annual outing of the Lynn Press Club of the marriage of John A. Flynn to Miss Alwine Megow, both of the Boston Evening American editorial department.

The announcement was made by Representative William P. Connery of the Sixth Congressional District, honorary member of the club, who was officiating as toastmaster at the dinner in Suntaug Inn.

Representative Connery surprised his hearers by talking for 30 minutes before revealing that the club had discovered the secret of the newlyweds. The couple received a purse of gold and the best wishes of the club members.

Although official announcement was not made until last night, fellow workers of the happy pair had watched their romance with interest from its inception.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Flynn of Lynn and is editor of the Merrimack and Cambridge editions of the Boston Evening American.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Megow of Billerica, is employed in the financial department of this newspaper. The couple will leave on a honeymoon shortly.

Texas Legionnaires Sought Here

A search for Legionnaires from the Lone Star State now residing in Massachusetts was started today by Lyman Armes, liaison officer for Texas, for the national convention of the American Legion here in October.

Several former Texans are needed to form a committee to look after the welcome, comfort and entertainment of the delegates from their home state. Thus far there appears to be a shortage of these in Massachusetts.

TRIO HANG FOR POLICE DEATH

Kansas City, July 25 (AP)—Three bank robbers who sprayed bullets into a Republican national convention crowd in a downtown district here few years ago were hanged simultaneously today for the murder of Patrolman James H. "Happy" Smith, victim of their fire.

They were Tony "Lollypop" Mangiaracina, Carl Nasello, machine gunner for the gang, and John Messino, driver of the bandit car.

One of five buttons pressed by five deputy sheriffs released the trap at 6:04 a. m., sending to death three of the six bandits who planned and executed the robbery of the Home Trust Co., June 11, 1928.

The bandits, standing erect as the nooses were adjusted, declared they had no statement to make. Among 200 witnesses of the execution was the father of the slain policeman.

New York Man Plans to Hop Atlantic in Baby Blimp

Augsberg, Germany, July 25 (AP)—A baby blimp is being built here with which Otto Brinkmann of New York plans to attempt a westward flight of the Atlantic.

The ship is 200 feet long and has a gas capacity of 5000 cubic meters. It is driven by two 120-horsepower motors.

Brinkmann, who in 1927 abandoned an attempt to fly from New York to Paris and sold his Sikorsky airplane to Mrs. Grayson, today was homeward bound aboard the steamship New York, arriving in New York on Sunday.

Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson, an American woman, was lost, probably at sea, in an attempt in 1927 to fly the Atlantic from New York to Paris. With her perished Brice Goldsborough, her commander, whose widow later said Mrs. Grayson forced him to take off on their "Dawn" flight at the point of a pistol.

Parachutes Save 4 U. S. Army Fliers

Sacramento, Cal., July 25 (AP)—Four aviators of the 318th Reserve Squadron escaped death yesterday when two transport planes collided 2000 feet above Mather field.

As planes piloted by Capt. Jacob McGrillis, Sacramento, and Capt. Charles Kruse, Coyote, Cal., were executing a cross over, Kruse's ship was forced upward into the other by an air current. The pilots and their observers, Lieuts. Francis Gilbert and Albert Mann, San Francisco, made safe landings by parachutes.

Customer Ownership

—a Logical Step in Newspaper Enterprise

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO the plan of employee-customer ownership first gained its foothold in this country in the public utility field. Now it is virtually universal among the public service corporations. This plan of financing is an established success in Great Britain.

It is not new in the publishing business. Several outstanding publishing concerns have adopted it. After several years' study of this plan, William Randolph Hearst became convinced of its value and benefits to all concerned. In consequence opportunity is now afforded to purchase

Attacks Order Slowing Down Fire Apparatus

Editor Boston American:

From time to time new orders are issued in the traffic code, some are good and others bad. The latest order which stops the fire department going to fires, seems to me to be the champion of all orders.

I can imagine what is going to happen should a fire break out in the heart of the district covered by the new lights with engines approaching in four directions, all having to stop at the red signal, with no more right of way than the autos and trucks who are pressing front and back of them.

Every piece of apparatus in this city has a bell and siren, which to me seem sufficient in letting traffic know of their approach, at which all traffic should stop, even at these signals, just as they do in other sections of the city.

Change this order let's give them the right of way, it's dangerous.

"L" Willing Passengers Should Avoid Walk

Editor Boston American:

An order, allowing passengers of Ashmont bound trolley cars from Dudley street terminal to ride around the loop at the Ashmont station, and thereby escape the walk down and up two flights of stairs is being continually ignored by the operators of these cars.

Last night when I arrived at Ashmont I was forced to argue with a conductor who threatened to push me from the car if I did not get out on the inbound side of the Ashmont station instead of riding around the loop.

Conductors have been ordered to inform passengers going to Milton and Mattapan that they can stay on the car and ride around the loop, but none of them seem to want to allow passengers to do this.

I am writing this letter to let the residents of Mattapan and Milton know what their rights are if they desire to use the loop rather than to walk over the stairs.

Says Steady Work Will Solve "Red" Menace

Editor Boston American:

Give the people work and there will not be such a thing as a "red" or "communist" menace in this country of ours. You cannot blame the people to side with organizations that tell them they will give them work if they will join them. In other words, give the "People work and decent wages and there will not be such a thing as a 'red' or 'communist' menace in this country."

SOMETHING TO THIN!' ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

As this is now By season- I have just proved the following:

If you want to get rid of flies just put up the colors of red and yellow in your rooms and see the flies buzz for the open windows.

If you want to accommodate their tastes just hang blue and green around and they will become star boarders in your home. I would like to hear through your letter column what success others have had with these colors.

I learned this from Prof. W. Patton, the well-known English entomologist.

Blames Women for Flareups in Home

Editor Boston American:

Some time ago, it was inferred in a letter in your paper that men were to blame in the majority of instances of breaking up the home life.

If there is any revolt in the male, it is occasioned by so many women breaking loose from domestic drudgery. They do not like to keep house. They do not like to be tied down. They seek new thrills. Many of these women are college graduates. They make a wreck of married life. They want something beyond the confines of married life. Home has no hold upon them. They dream too much of what they did in the past.

Is it any wonder under these conditions that husbands walk out of the home and disappear. When asked how this happened the reply comes: "My wife did not keep her end of the responsibility up. I could not stand it any longer. So I got out."

My object in writing this is that the story in your paper about men leaving their wives must be looked on from a different angle than your correspondent viewed it.

Lauds Bird Story on Mrs. Holbrook

Editor Boston American:

I am so glad that you printed a story on Mrs. David Holbrook, of West Peabody, feeding little birds suddenly deprived of the care and nurture of father and mother bird. They were both killed and Mrs. Holbrook became a true mother to them and has been feeding them daily.

May I recall to your readers that pathetic story called "Love," written by Guy de Maupassant? It is this: Two hunters left early in the morning to get some birds. After walking some distance, they shot a bird hovering over a tree. Soon after this bird fell dead to the ground, another bird kept soaring over the same spot. It was this time the mother bird. It was sounding sad notes. This was killed also. The hunters then awakened to the fact that the birds had a nest near by. The cries of the birds before they were shot was love for the little birdies in the nest.

As the hunters gether up the birds the thought rushed in their minds that they had shot "Love." The story is touching one in its details, upon which I have not entered, but your story of the West Peabody woman called it to mind. I thank your paper for giving such prominence to this incident, which means so much to many of us who are lovers of birds. It is the kind of news that all of us in our home like to read.

Sees Nothing to Credit of Aged Visiting Turk

Editor Boston American:

I wonder how many people really believe that modern Methuselah now guying New York city is really 136 years old? He would have to go much farther to excel the old Methuselah, who was 969 years old. But do people really believe this Zara Agha, who is cheaty because he has outlived 12 of his wives

That's nothing to his credit, is it? You can't stuff this into my mind, for they reckon years differently in Turkey than we do here.

When Barnum had his museum on Broadway, he exhibited a Caucasian girl. She was quite a drawing card in her day. I saw her, but a friend of mine at that time gave me the wink that she formerly lived on Eighth st. near the Bowery. Of course, I understood that wink.

If Zara Agha comes to Boston he will be put through a good test by a doctor who is anxious to look him over and knows how to tell age.

CHANCE VOUGHT PIONEER OF AIR, DIES

New York, July 25 (AP)—Chance Vought, aircraft manufacturer and designer, died early today in the Southampton, Long Island, hospital after a long illness. He was forty-two.

Vought was one of the "early birds" of aviation, a contemporary of Glenn Curtiss, who died two days ago; of the Wright brothers, Lieut. Thomas Selfridge and other pioneers who flew the old "box kites" of 20 years ago.

Designer of many fighting planes and developer of the first standardized planes capable of withstanding the stresses of "shooting" from catapults on floating aircraft carriers, he was president at his death of the Lewis & Vought Corp., which he organized and which became this year a division of the United Aircraft & Transportation Co.

His wife, the former Ena Lewis of Pittsburgh, and their two sons, Chance, Jr., and Peter, were at the bedside at the time of his death. The funeral probably will be held Monday.

Generals Inspect, Praise R. I. Troops

Fort Adams, R. I., July 25—Maj.-Gen. Hugh A. Drum, inspector-general of the army, and Brig.-Gen. Meriwether L. Walker, commanding the First Corps Area, inspected the C. M. T. C. here and reviewed the regiment today. Both generals highly praised the morale of the camp and the showing made by the embryo soldiers who were officered entirely by students. Gen. Drum was accompanied by Col. Charles A. Romeyn, inspector of the First Corps Area.

2 Boys Caught in Shop in Campello

Brockton, July 25—Two boys, 14 and 15, were captured in Hoagland's tailor shop, in Campello, by Patrolmen Thomas Burke and Ira Thompson early today. The officers watched the boys enter the rear of the store of Charles Anderson, next door, and emerge carrying a paper bag. Investigation disclosed that a window had been cut out in the Anderson store, and a piece taken from a partition between that place and Hoagland's.

PORT OF BOSTON IN REVIEW

By CARL MORRISON

When Clement A. Norton, superintendent of Commonwealth Pier, returns to Boston after the Legion convention in Williamstown he will find scores of friends waiting to pick an argument with him.

We do not refer to Clem's resolution calling for American Legion repudiation of the Eighteenth Amendment—although this started some talk. We have in mind another resolution which the popular pier personage proposed.

Clem filed a resolve which "provides that the Governor of the Commonwealth and executive officials of Massachusetts towns and cities be requested that whenever possible in the performance of public work, human labor be given preference over automatic machinery."

While the unemployed and many labor leaders may favor this resolution, the majority in the harbor regard the idea as futile and uneconomic. What Norton probably had in mind was the praiseworthy idea of using human labor in constructing roads instead of giant robots which mix, lay and level cement highways by the mile.

In several sources the harborites are commenting upon Clem's suggestion. The comments ranged from serious to humorous. One man said that the modern cigarette machine, costing $1200, makes 300,000 smokes a day, with only two or three operators, as contrasted with only 500 daily under the hand-rolled process.

On the humorous side, Clem will be advised to walk to work daily instead of using a machine. He is to be asked to give up his adding machine and go back to the old-fashioned pencil stub, and to abolish his telephone and typewriter. Regardless of the "kidding," Norton is sincere and intends to ask the mayor and City Council—of which he is a member—to adopt this policy to aid unemployment.

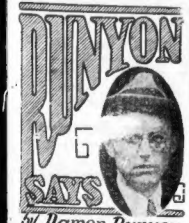
RUNYON SAYS



by Damon Runyon

Copyright, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 25—The announcement from Washington that the commissioner of immigration is giving Signor Primo Carnera the old-fashioned bum's rush has grieved my old friend, Mr. Lou Greenberg, no little.

In fact, when Mr. Greenberg relation, which conducts annually called on me today, his eyes were suffused with glistening salt drops that I took to be tears, until Mr. Greenberg explained that he had just emerged from the briny deep. It seems that the permanent inmates of of Atlantic City are also given to ocean bathing on occasion

Mr. Greenberg is the sports editor of the Atlantic City Press, an interesting publication of wide circulation, a boxing show for the benefit of a coal and ice fund for the poor.

As you have been told in this column before, and, I might add, exclusively, if that means anything, they have been planning for some time to present Signor Primo Carnera as one of the principals in the 1930 show, scheduled for late August or early September.

If Signor Primo Carnera is shoved off these hospitable shores by the commissioner of immigration, naturally it will be impossible to unveil him here.

Hence Mr. Greenberg's ill concealed grief. Hence a local movement involving United States Senators, Congressmen, and what-not, to get the commissioner to rescind his cruel ukase that Signor Primo must go.

PLANNED TO USE PRIMO

As I related herein several days ago, Mr. Herman "Muggsy" Taylor, of the Philadelphia fistic promotion firm of Taylor and Gunnis is acting as promoter for the Atlantic City show, which is to be held in the new auditorium here.

I can personally testify that Mr. Taylor has been casting about for several months for an opponent for Signor Primo Carnera, and that he first tried to get Vittorio Campolo the scapolo of the Argentine, from the controlling syndicate holder, Madison Square Garden Corporation.

Failing in that, Mr. Taylor has been chatting over the ocean phone with Mr. "Pa" Stribling, the proud parent and manager of Willie Stribling, who is in London waiting to trade with old Phil the Fainter, next Monday night. Mr. "Pa" Stribling and Mr. Taylor has indeed come to terms ere the pronouncements of the commissioner of immigration befell.

That is, they have come to terms if Willie does all right with Phil the Painter.

But allowing that Willie wins, the match with Carnera is on, and I am inclined to the belief that even the most stony hearted commissioner of immigration would have to go to the length of signor Primo Carnera's booking here prior to the ukase.

Certainly he would yield if he got one peek at Mr. Lou Greenberg's sad pan. I would suggest submitting Mr. Greenberg's pan as additional evidence if any is needed to soften the commissioner up.

'STRIB' MUST BEAT SCOTT

If Willie Stribling beats Scott, and the New Jersey boxing commission introduces the no-foul rule here by way of definite protection to the clients, as will be requested by the promoters, they are apt to pack the auditorium's 42,000 capacity.

Bridgeport Takes Up Night Baseball

Bridgeport, Ct., July 25 (AP)—Night baseball under powerful flood lights will make its Connecticut debut in the new field, Eastern League park, on August 4.

Bridgeport is the third of the four surviving clubs of the Eastern League to install lighting system. Allentown was the first, inaugurating lighting games in the Eastern League a week ago and Albany played its first game under artificial lights on its home field last night. Springfield is expected to have its park similarly equipped on August 10.

Stribling and Scott Conclude Training

Windsor, Eng., July 25 (INS)—A. L. ("Young") Stribling and Phil Scott, American and British fighters, scheduled to battle it out in the ring here Monday night, concluded their heavy training and began easing up on their daily program.

Scott has been doing most of his training in secret. The fight in these parts has been hailed as the "battle for the world heavyweight championship."

Providence Woman Wins Vermont Title

Rutland, Vt., July 25 (AP)—Mrs. Frederick Davis of Bomoseen and Providence, R. I., today won the Vermont women's golf championship by defeating Mrs. J. A. Schroeder of Dorset, 8 and 5, in the final match of the tournament.

TILDEN WINS, LOTT LOSES IN PARIS

France, in the opening singles engagement, 2—6, 7—5, 6—4, 7—5, but George Lott, the youthful Chicagoan, could not hold it.

Chicago Star Never Had Chance

Lott faded before a determined and masterful Henri Cochet, ace of the French forces, in the second singles battle of the day, losing in straight sets, after making a big best bid in the first set. Lott never had a chance to win.

In the first set Cochet led at three-love, then 3—1, before Lott rallied, took the lead at 4—3 but was forced to subside before the Frenchman's game. Cochet ran out the last three games quickly, to win the set 6—4.

Point score first set:

Cochet	432	542	244	4—36
Lott	134	364	422	3—31

Lott was more severely outplayed in the second set than he was in the first. The Frenchman took a lead of 4-1 and then won the set with the loss of two games.

Point score for the second set:

Cochet	4	4	5	5	4	1	8	4	4—35
Lott	2	2	3	7	1	4	6	0	2—25

Cochet overwhelmed Lott in the third set, and at the close the Chicago boy played as though he had given up all hope.

Third set point score:

Cochet	5	8	4	2	1	4	5	—33
Lott	3	6	2	4	2	4	2	3—26

The figures for the Cochet-Lott match indicated some measure of the Frenchman's superiority.

Recapitulation.

After a nervous start, Tilden swept through to his eighth major tournament victory in succession over the bounding Basque. The match was bitterly fought and was featured by a turbulent scene in the third set when Borotra scored a service ace after the American had lifted his hand to indicate he was not ready to play. The umpire ruled that Tilden had monened too late and gave the point to Borotra.

Tilden, already rallying mightily after erring frequently in the first set, rose to new heights after the upsetting incident and trounced Borotra, parading through to the first victory of the challenge round with only the final desperate effort o fthe Basque in the fourth and deciding set holding him up temporarily.

The Basque rallied in the final set after Tilden had run the count to 5—1 in games. The Frenchman reeled off four straight games, but could not hold the pace and dropped the decding set, 7—5.

Borotra won the first game on his own service, Tilden netting three points and outing one. Tilden won his own service, but Borotra again took his own service and led at 2 games to 1.

Borotra Outplays Tilden in First Set

Borotra ran out the set at 6—2 and completely outplayed Big Bill all the way. The American appeared to lose through errors caused by extreme nervousness.

The point score for the first set:

Borotas	4	3	2	4	1	5	8	4	4—35
Tilden	..	0	4	1	2	6	0	4	1—20

Tilden made a splendid rally after trailing 2 to 5 in games in the second set. He pulled ahead deuced the set, and won 7 to 5 with a run of five straight games.

A hush fell over the stadium as Tilden tied the score at five games all. During the famous comeback service Big Bill aced the Basque repeatedly and Borota's game seemed to be lost in the keenness that showed in the first set.

It took some of the best tennis of Tilden's long career to win the second set with the five-game rush from behind. He appeared to have lost the nervousness that marked his play in the first set.

Second set point score:

Tilden.	4	2	5	4	6	4	4	4	5	7—47
Borota.	4	2	6	6	4	3	4	1	2	1	3	5—38

The games were three all in the third set, after Borotra had taken an early lead 3—1, when an incident occurred that marred the calm of the play.

Tilden Loses Point When Not Set to Play

Tilden motioned that he was not ready to receive Borotra's service but the umpire, Nicolas Rodesperger, gave the Basque an ace when he served anyway. The point gave the Basque the game and lead 4—3.

The umpire took time out to tell the wildly-shouting spectators that Tilden had spoken too late and after the ball had already left Borotra's raquet for the service ace point.

Tilden was obviously nettled. He strode across the courts, took up his service, and the balls shot across the net with rifle bullet

FATE OF DAVIS CUP RESTS WITH THESE PLAYERS

George Lott

Henri Cochet

FOR THE FIRST TIME since 1927, America has a fine chance of winning the Davis Cup. The French defenders are ready to put up the greatest battle of their careers against the invaders. Borotra, however, failed to start France off in the right direction for he lost the opening singles match to Bill Tilden. Borotra stated off fast but Tilden came back strong to conquer, 2—6, 7—5, 6—4, 7—5.

HENRI COCHET, the French master, who defeated George Lott of Chicago in straight sets to give France an even break in the first day's Davis Cup play. Cochet won, 6-4, 6-2. Lott was swept before his brilliant opponent.

Carnera Likely to Stay in U. S.; To Meet Schmeling

By HYPE IGOE

New York, July 25 (INS)—Primo Carnera will be with us 20 more days at least and everything points to his being one of us for the extra six months he craves to remain.

Indeed, a little birdie tells me that the "fellers" down Washington way, the same "fellers" that Tex Rickard loved to talk about, and count as his friends, are going to stretch little Primo's request for six months' additional stay in this country to one year, in which time he will fight Schmeling for the world's title in Jersey City.

When I see bootsie going up the gangplank, being shoved along by the boys in blue and brass buttons, I'll believe he has actually got the bum's rush. Not until then. Those feet of his are firmly planted on good old U. S. terra firma.

There is more than a suspicion that the officials concerned in chasing Primo home, went off half cocked and may not be able to make orders stand up.

In any case, Primo has been granted that 20-day stay, asked for by Bill Duffy, majordomo of the Carnera crew.

Congressman Robert Clancy of Michigan made a special trip to Washington yesterday to see that Duffy got that much grace in heading off deportation proceedings.

To prove that Carnera or his managers are not worrying much about Primo being tossed across the Atlantic, Bootsie went through a hard day's training at Stillman's gymnasium.

He has a fight on in Chicago and plans have been under way for several months to have Carnera meet one of the best men in the world in the Atlantic City auditorium for the benefit of the ice and coal fund, one of the great charities for the poor of that haven of rest and fun.

Contracts for both of these bouts have been signed. Stribling, Campolo or Sharkey can take up the burden.

Carnera will meet Schmeling for the world's title in the Jersey City arena next year. Johnny Malone, a close friend of Duffy, is to promote the bout, aided by Herman Taylor and Bobby Guiness of Philadelphia, the two who brought Carnera and Godfrey together in Quakertown.

All that has been settled, Schmeling knows that the match has been in the making, and is ready to face the giant Italian.

And this isn't the only iron that Duffy will have in the fire. He is to get backing from a number of business men who want to build for him an arena in New York seating from 80,000 to 35,000 persons. All being done, mind you, with the thought that Carnera will be champion sooner or later.

United States Senators, Congressmen and powerful other influences are coming to Duffy's aid in blocking the forces that say Le Primo must go right straight home.

Senators and Congressmen who come from Italian districts want to see Primo remain where he is while the remaining is good—so good.

Keenan Picked to Win Revere Race

Despite the fact that Francis Georgetti, world's champion motor paced rider, Charlie Jaeger, European paced champion, and such stars as Al LeTournier and George Chapman are also entered in the event, Revere's bike fans are disposed to rate Frankie Keenan of Revere as the favorite to win the hour motor paced race which will feature Nat Butler's bike program at his beach oval tomorrow night.

To make it perfect, the 10-mile amateur motor paced race also will have local boys competing. Al Keith of Revere, who has won his share of these races, will be closely contested for honors by Bruno Laura of East Boston. Peter Calise and Anthony Insana of Providence will also ride in this race.

British Polo Star Injured in Game

Beaufort Park, Wiltshire, Eng., July 25 (AP)—Aidan Roark, member of the British polo team which will invade the United States in September, was injured today when he was tossed from his pony in the fourth period of a match between the "Hurlingham" and Beaufort Park teams. Roark fell on his head receiving a concussion.

Suits Against Heavy Champ Discontinued

New York, July 25 (AP)—Two suits, in which warrants of attachment had been obtained against Max Schmeling, German heavyweight boxer, and his German manager, were discontinued in Supreme Court today.

One was brought against the fighter by Arthur Bulow, his German manager, for an alleged debt of $60,000. The other was brought against Harry Bulow by Harry Rechsteiner, attorney, for $10,000 for professional services. It was indicated that both suits had been settled out of court.

MISS MORRILL WINS TOURNEY

Manchester-by-the-Sea, July 25 (INS)—Playing the most brilliant match of her career, Miss Marjorie Morrill of Dedham today won the finals of the women's invitation tennis tournament for the Essex County Cup by defeating Miss Marjorie Gladman of Santa Monica, Cal.

In complete mastery at all times, Miss Morrill won with apparent ease from her more experienced opponent before a colorful gallery at the Essex County Club in straight sets, 6—1, 6—2.

The Dedham star's service even seemed improved over that of yesterday when she rose to great heights in the semi-final to eliminate Miss Dorothy Weisel, of Sacramento, Cal. It was Miss Weisel who nipped in the but Miss Morrill's hopes for victory in the invitation singles at Longwood last week.

The East thus won a leg on the beautiful trophy which has been up for play for six years. Last year it was won by Miss Edith Cross, of San Francisco, Cal., eliminated this year in the quarter final round. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, of Berkeley, Cal., holds three legs on the trophy.

Tony Lazzeri Is Versatile Yankee

Tony Lazzeri, Yankee star, this year has played all infield posts except first base.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

The first Tribal hit in the series against the Cards was Walter Berger's 27th home run of the season. The blow, which came in the first inning with Maranville on base, traveled over the left-field fence between the bleachers and the foul line.

The first Cardinal safety was also a circuit drive by Chick Hafey, which hit one of the signs in the rear of the left-field stands. His second one came on his second time up, in the fourth, and landed in the same place.

Frankie Frisch is wise to Maranville's trick of dropping short flies over the infield for hits and plays a short rightfield whenever the Rabbit comes to bat.

Nobody gets more fun out of baseball than Jim Bottomley, crack first sacker and slugger of the Cards. No matter how tough things are breaking for him or his mates, he is always smiling and clowning. He's one of the few players who would play whether or not he was paid for it.

The Cards don't seem to care whether school keeps or not. They naturally like to win but defeat doesn't appear to disturb them a bit. Their attitude is probably due to the poor support they receive from home fans.

Umpire "Bsana" Reardon got an idea in the sixth inning that Bobby Smith was doing tricks with the ball and halted the game while he examined the pitcher's glove. He didn't find anything illegal about the mitt and Maranville set his mind at ease by informing him that all of Bobby's stuff was "just natural."

All the St. Louis pitchers looked the same to Berger in the opening game. He banged out a homer and a single off Haines, a single off Bell and another single off Grabowski.

Hill Is Defeated at Crawford Notch

Crawford Notch, N. H., July 25—The men's semi-finals singles were played at the Crawford Notch Tennis Club, and Percy Kynaston of Brookline routed Valentine Gross, 6—0, 6—2, while A. F. von Bermuth managed to defeat M. T. Hill of Waban, 6—4, 3—6, 6—4.

"IT ALL DEPENDS ON YOU," referring to Bill Tilden, will be the theme song of the Davis Cup matches. As Tilden goes, so goes the cup, in the opinion of experts.

HELEN JACOBS QUITS COURT

New York, July 25 (AP)—Ill health has forced Helen Jacobs America's second ranking player, to quit tournament tennis for the rest of this season.

Weakened by a severe attack of pleurisy and quinsy, Miss Jacobs announced yesterday she had withdrawn from the Scarsdright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club and from the national championships and would return to her home in Berkeley, Cal., on Sunday.

Miss Jacobs' withdrawal from the national championships clears the way for an easier victory for Helen Wills Moody in the singles Miss Jacobs long has been Mrs Moody's leading American rival and on several occasions has given the champion a close fight at Forest Hills and Wimbledon.

Miss Jacobs contracted a throat infection while on the Riviera this spring.

Medalist Put Out of Shenecossett Golf

New London, Conn., July 25 (AP)—Rudy Rothenberg, Delaware Water Gap, Pa., medalist of the Shenecossett Club Invitation golf tournament, was eliminated in the first round of match play today by Ralph L. Rooks, Providence, and up, 19 holes.

J. B. Lewis, Jr., Norwalk, Conn., defeated E. L. Beard, Jr., Bayside, N. Y., four up and three to play.

Howard A. Tryon, Elmira, N. Y., defeated H. S. Lake, Hartford three and one. George Smart, Springfield, Mass., defeated Harry Shariff New York, three and two. Valentine L. Fine, Eastern Point, defeated Dennis W. Morton, Norwich, two and one.

PAID LITTLE FOR TEAM OF STARS

By JOE CASHMAN

Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, is known as the most unpopular and hard-boiled of the magnates, but whatever his faults, if any, he's the smartest baseball man of the whole lot.

His record with the Cards proves it.

He has never been known to spend as high as $10,000 for a player and all the players he has had since take-over the club in 1920 didn't cost him much more than every other club owner had paid for one rookie at some time or other. Yet, he has had two pennant winning outfits and never has had a poor club.

His present aggregation, now engaged in battling the Braves at the Wigwam, is no exception to the rule. It cost little or nothing and is playing fine ball.

Joe Cashman

Jim Bottomley, Chick Hafey, Taylor Douthit, Ray Blades, Jesse Haines and Flint Rhem were all members of the championship teams of 1926 and 1928. Each cost little or nothing to secure and has been an outstanding player for years.

Breadon Got Hornsby for Less Than $500

Frankie Frisch, at second base, was secured in exchange for Rogers Hornsby, who was worth plenty of money at the time but stood the Cards less than $500, originally.

Andy High, at third, was bought from the Braves in return for Jester Bell, another performer Breadon picked up for almost nothing. Jimmy Wilson, first string catcher, was secured from Philadelphia for a number of players who cost little and were worth less.

The rest of the gang, Gelbert, Orsatti, Watkins, Fisher, Mancuso, Johnson, Carbowski, Hallahan, Adams, Lindsey, Bell and Haid, all pretty good ball players, were secured at little or no expense.

Breadon's system sounds very simple but it probably isn't for other magnates have tried it without success.

He has Branch Rickey, former manager of the team and one of the best baseball diamond masterfigures in the history of the game, looking for promising material around the sand lots of the country all the time.

Whenever Rickey reports favorably on a youngster, the latter is sent to one of the Cardinal farms in Class A, where he then goes up a grade each year until he is ready for the big show.

Cardinal Players Get Small Salaries

He is never paid a large salary so that when he breaks in with the Cards, he is satisfied with what he is offered. And, if eventually he becomes so great that he must be paid a big sum to play, he is sold.

Breadon is ruthless in many respects and is very much disliked by St. Louis fans at present, but the owner has a good ball club which cost him very little to secure and pays him very little to operate with the result that he will be better off financially at the end of the year than most of the magnates who are popular.

But while his unpopularity at home is bothering Breadon any, it is starting to have a bad effect on the players, judging from their showing against the Braves yesterday.

They played good ball but didn't

A. A. U. Leaders Plan War on Amateur Boxing Evils

MUSHROOM CLUBS ARE TO COME UNDER FIRE IN WAR TO CLEAN UP SPORT

By JACK CONWAY

Leaders in the A. A. U., who are anxious to keep commercialism out of amateur boxing, intend to stage a house cleaning. They will war on mushroom clubs, which are operated only for the financial enrichment of a few persons, and on managers and boxers who consider amateur boxing just another racket.

For years amateur boxing has been a life-saver to those fans who have craved real action in the ring. The amateur game, as a whole, has been free of most of the abuses which have tended to injure professional boxing.

Jack Conway

During the past few years some of the evils of professional boxing have crept into the amateur game.

Those men who were responsible for the growth of amateur boxing are determined that the game shall be kept in the healthy condition they built it up to following years of effort.

Charley Lynch of Dorchester, a star amateur boxer at the B. A. A. back in the '80s, called at this office to express his views in regard to the amateur boxing situation.

"I am in complete accord with the Boston Evening American in its effort to eliminate the evils of commercialism which have been creeping into amateur boxing during the past five years," declared Lynch.

"I have always felt that amateur boxing was the anchor of the ring game. It has saved boxing during some of its most troubled periods.

"I started boxing at B. A. A. tournaments 30 years ago. In those days we boxed for the fun and health we got out of the game.

TAUGHT PROPER BOXING

"One of the reasons why the old-timers were such good boxers was because they mastered the fundamentals of the game before they started shooting for the big money.

"When I started boxing as an amateur I was 15 years old. Many boys start at the same age nowadays. I was brought along slowly by my coaches and was only allowed to engage in one tournament a month.

"Boys from 15 to 18 years of age should not be permitted to take part in more than one tournament a month. By restricting them in this way they will have an opportunity to learn something about boxing and will not have their health impaired.

"I haven't got a mark from boxing, while I feel young for my years. This is because I was not rushed to the front too rapidly.

"I believe that boxing under proper conditions is a fine thing for boys. Those persons who are in authority in amateur boxing should see that the youngsters are safeguarded. The men who promoted amateur boxing 20 and 30 years ago were true sportsmen. They did not manage amateur boxers or promote shows to enrich themselves.

"Clubs like the B. A. A. fostered boxing because it is a clean, fine sport. A few of us old-timers are going to do everything possible to see that the game is kept clean."

Mushroom clubs are one of the greatest evils of amateur boxing. These organizations have no fixed purpose. Their chief interest is the money they make out of the promotion of amateur boxing.

This type of promoter has been responsible for the encouragement of those managers and boxers who follow the amateur game for financial gain. A promoter who is feathering his own nest from amateur boxing cannot very well oppose the demands of managers and boxers who look upon the sport as an easy way to make money.

This type of manager and boxer argues, and with some sense of justice, that if the promoter is on the make that they are also entitled to get what they can out of the amateur game.

Managers of amateur boxers are an enthusiastic lot. They can see a coming champion in every boy they have under their management. As a result they are liable to send the youngsters to the front too rapidly. They are possessed with the wild urge to see their proteges battling in the professional ring. This often leads to disastrous results.

Inexperienced boys cannot stand up under the glove fire of the pro rings. They are punched down before they have even mastered the fundamentals of the game.

More boys are today interested in amateur boxing than at any time in the history of the sport. This was proved by the tremendous entry lists which were received for the novice classes, in the shows staged by the St. Joseph's T. A. Society at Mechanics Building last season.

So many entries were received in each novice class that it was necessary to hold drawings to determine what boys would be permitted to compete.

Harry Kelley, veteran trainer of boxers who has a gymnasium for boxers on Hanover st., told this writer that the average boy should be kept in the amateurs for two to three years before being permitted to enter the pro ranks.

"Experience is necessary if one is to succeed in any sport," said Kelley. "It takes two to three years to teach a youngster the fundamentals of the game.

"I have seen hundreds of promising boxers ruined by being rushed into the pro ring before they had received proper schooling. They tire quickly and then don't know how to protect themselves. The boys are then open to receive terrific punishment. A bad beating early in a boxer's career will wreck his ambition and cost him a wreck on the fistic shores.

"If a boy remains in the amateurs for two to three years he masters the fundamentals of boxing, acquires steadiness and gets accustomed to appearing in the ring before big crowds. Give the kids a chance and they'll prove they can develop into as good boxers as some of the old-timers were."

Jack Conway will have another article on "The Inside of the Boxing Racket" in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

TILDEN WINS; LOTT BEATEN

speed. Tilden quickly took the game to even the count at four all and ran off the next two for the set.

Borotra appeared outclassed in his efforts to stop Tilden in the last three games. Big Bill's service was never so severe and his judgment of distance was remarkable.

The third set point score:

Tilden .....3 4 3 1 4 4 4 6 6 4—34
Borotra .....4 6 5 4 1 1 4 4 6 0—37

The players went to the showers for a 10-minute rest after the third set with Tilden appearing much more alert and in better physical condition than Borotra, who seemed badly spent.

Tilden ran his advantage to four games in the fourth set before the Basque broke through, won one game, and the set stood 4—1 in Tilden's favor.

Tilden gave the Americans a bad scare in the fourth set when, with the match apparently tucked away, with the game count 5—1 in his favor he weakened, losing his service twice in succession and allowing Borotra to tie the count and threaten to even the match. The American ace rallied, however, broke through Borotra's service in the 11th game and won his own in the 12th, finishing off the set and match by serving an irreprievable ace for the final point.

Point score fourth set:

Tilden. 4 4 4 6 3 4 1 2 3 2 4 6—40
Borota. 3 0 2 4 4 2 4 4 4 3 2 8—35

Despite the score the closeness of the Tilden-Borotra match was shown by the fact that the victor scored but one point more than the vanquished in the four sets.

Tilden scored 135 points, Borotra 134.

GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
"Golf's Greatest Teacher"

In the true touch grip the left hand is so placed that the thumb is just back of the top center of the shaft and the first two knuckles of the hand show to the eye. Now these knuckles should show when the club is in the address position. If the club is midway with your body three knuckles will show. The right hand is snuggled up so close that the left thumb is pressed into the palm of the right hand. Then exert the right thumb and forefinger pressure and see what you get. Your right hand, to be exact, should be so placed that the first joint of your right forefinger extends downward in a straight line as you look down at it. In this position the right hand not only will be restrained and its power kept in balance with the lesser strength of your left hand, but at the moment of stroking the ball it will roll over to the left and rather "scissors" the ball away. If you swing correctly your right hand can do nothing else, so it is needless for you to try to promote this rolling action. Try this touch-feel grip system. Better work with it 'till you get it because it means the best of shots.

Note—This time of year the rough is heavy and traps are deep, making it essential to use your niblick effectively. Mr. Horton has a new monograph ready for free distribution, which should enable any player to use his niblick well. To receive this write the Sports Editor, this newspaper, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Notes of the Sandlots

Teacher and pupil are listed in the Portland roster of the Greater Boston Twilight League, for Frank McCrehan, coach of the Boston College freshmen, and Jimmy Crowley, who played short for Frank last season at the Heights, are teammates on Chick Davies' entry in the after-supper circuit.

It was a great surprise to McCrehan's many friends to find him pitching again. But not to Frank. For he pitches to the Boston College varsity in practice and warms up his Eagle freshmen getting plenty of mound work.

McCrehan, one of the best slow-ball pitchers of his day, defeated Ownie Carroll and the famous Holy Cross nine while at B. C. and had a tryout with the big leagues after graduation.

Billy Lord, former Harvard baseball player and his brother Jack, who was captain of Bowdoin, will lead the stong Lord Tanning Co. team of Danvers in Lincoln Park, Somerville, tomorrow afternoon for a contest with the Somerville Cubs.

This team gave the Cubs one of their hardest games of the season and will draw a large crowd to the field for the Lordy hope to give the fourth defeat of the season to the Cubs.

Al Blanche, who pitched a three hit game against Rockingdale and a four-hit game against Wareham, two of the strongest teams in the Twi and Caps Leagues, will hurl for the Cubs, while Deverne, formerly with Brockton in the N. E. League, will pitch for the visitors to Lincoln Park.

THROWS PUNCHES NOW

Carl Mays, former Red Sox pitcher, is reported to have engaged in a 20-minute fist fight with Wallace Walters, fellow pitcher of the Portland (Ore.) ball club, Wednesday night. The pitchers were so badly battered they could not work for several days. No explanation of the cause of the row has been given.

CARL MAYS IN FIST FIGHT

Portland, Ore., July 25 (AP)—Forsaking his submarine ball for submarine uppercuts, Carl Mays, former major league baseball star, engaged in a 20-minute fist fight with Wallace Walters, another Portland hurler, Wednesday night, it became known today.

The battle, other players said, left the pitchers badly battered and unable to pitch for several days.

appear to care whether they won or lost.

Tribe Had to Hustle to Win by One Run

The Tribe had to hustle all the way to win by a margin of one run, but that was due entirely to Chick Hafey, the bespectacled left fielder, who hit two home runs, a double and a single to keep his mates in the running right down to the finish. The rest of the journey proved easy for Bobby Smith.

The victory enabled the natives to break their sixth-place tie with Cincinnati and gain the berth for themselves, as the Reds split with the Robins twice.

And now that they have shaken off the Howleymen, the Warriors intend to keep right on pulling away from them. If a few more of the hurlers can come through like Smith did, they ought to succeed, for the hitting and fielding of the team is all that could be desired.

RADIO DEALERS HOLD OUTING

Nearly 100 golf enthusiasts, members of the Radio Wholesalers Club, turned in score cards yesterday afternoon at the Sandy Burr Country Club.

There was a kickers' golf tournament, in which the contestants named their own handicap; a long-drive contest, at which the loud-speakers were barred; an approach contest for the hole-in-1 experts, and a quoit pitching contest in charge of Frank Murray, quoit pitching champion of the radio trade.

The committee in charge included Al Burke, C. Marquard, Thomas Burke, Frank B. Fitts, Harold Hamblen, Max and Campbell and John V. Wilson.

The results of the various contests follow:

Class A, Handicap Medal Play—First prize, R. A. Callahan, handicap 21, gross 98, net 80; second prize, a tie between Horace Vaughan, Thomas Burke and Horace Vaughan, gross 91, handicap 24, net 71; Vaughan, gross 97, handicap 24, net 73.

Class B—First prize, Thomas Moran, gross 98, handicap 24, net 74; second prize, Joseph Burke, gross 97, handicap 20, net 77.

The long drive contest was won by J. M. Burke; drive and approach contest on the 10th green by Mr. Chaney; approach contest was won by C. Russey, whose ba came within 7 feet 6½ inches of the flag.

Joplin Team Wins Horton Smith Cup

Joplin, Mo., July 25 (AP)—Joplin today went about its accustomed task with a smile, for its honor had been vindicated and Horton Smith, young professional golfer, was firmly entrenched in the local hall of fame.

Young Mr. Smith, idol of many a golfing duffer, and not a few experts, was born and reared in Springfield. With his success came controversy. Joplin, his adopted city, made vociferous claim of the youthful golfing find. Springfield, the old home town, conceded not a point.

Recently a unique form of arbitration was suggested by the principal to the argument. He offered the Horton Smith cup, to be awarded annually to winners of competition between 10 player teams, representing the rival cities.

The Joplin amateurs began the play with a sweep of all five of a series of two-ball foursomes. Yesterday they clinched the cup by winning six and tieing one of 10 singles matches.

Early Todd Wins Fredericton Pace

Fredericton, N. B., July 25 — Maine-owned horses swept the card at the closing day of the Maine and New Brunswick circuit races here yesterday.

Early Todd, the Houlton pacer in Will Keys's stable, won the handicap pace, although beaten in the second heat by Bob Seymour, the Massachusetts entry.

THE ORCHARD HOUSE, CONCORD

Concord is noted not only for its history, but for its prominence in art and literature. Emerson, Thoreau, Margaret Fuller, Channing, Hawthorne, the Alcotts, and others lived in Concord.

The Alcotts were an interesting family and Orchard House was one of their abodes, perhaps the best known. Here Louisa May Alcott wrote "Little Women," and Bronson Alcott, her father, taught in the Concord School of Philosophy.

MAY AN ARTIST

They were an able group. May Alcott being a talented artist. She was the youngest of the sisters, and the "Amy" in "Little Women." Louisa was "Jo" and the other sisters were Beth and Meg. Orchard House sheltered them from 1857 until it was sold in 1882 to William T. Harris, biographer of Alcott.

The house is 250 years old and when Alcott moved in his best friends advised him to tear it down and build a new one. But he answered:

"That genius which repairs an old house successfully may fail in building another."

After he remodelled the dwelling, he wrote in his memos:

"My neighbors flatter me in telling me that I have one of the best placed and most picturesque houses in town; as for fences and gates, I was told that mine were unlike any other in the world."

OVENS REMAIN

Bronson Alcott changed not a rafter or beam. He left the old ovens, and made nooks and corners about the house which his daughters painted and papered. May filling the bare places with painted panels of nature scenes, mottoes, owls and faces. Today some of her sketches remain.

Louisa Alcott was the most noted member of the family, earning a living for all through her literary work. She strove for many years for recognition. She was born at Germantown, Pa., in 1832, and died in Roxbury, 1888. Her years were filled with change and responsibility, but success came to her finally. She was a school teacher, a Civil War nurse, a writer and homemaker. Her works were novels, the Little Women series, the Spinning Wheel series, Aunt Jo's Scrap Bag and Lulu's Library.

The furnishings in the Orchard House are mostly those of the Alcotts' time. The house is open daily and is viewed by thousands. It is on Lexington rd. just before Concord sq. on Auto Route No. 2.

Tomorrow—Daniel Green Homestead, Stoneham.

AERIAL MEET IN WOONSOCKET TOMORROW

By GEORGE HAMBLIN

Construction of the Montgomery Airport in Woonsocket, R. I., having reached the final stages, the new field will be dedicated with a two-day air meet beginning tomorrow, according to an announcement made today by George F. Barry and Thomas Goldie, directors of the show.

Invitations have been extended to a score of the more prominent New England fliers, and acceptances have been pouring in from all sections of the six states.

PLAN GALA PROGRAM

In order to assure the spectators of a show worth going miles to see, Barry and Goldie have promised to have a program for each day which will include practically every stunt and event, with parachute jumping bringing each day to a close.

Boston's fliers will be represented by George Watkins, flying Johnnie Powers' Kinner-engined American Eagle; Mrs. Theodore "Teddy" Kenyon, with Miss Olivia "Keet" Mathews accompanying her; Walt Rogers and Gus Ham in a Davis monoplane, and a Curtiss-Wright Flying Service Robin or Cessna.

Prizes totalling over $350 had been obtained up to last night, with promises for as many more, assuring the contestants of awards worth tearing up the sky to win.

EXPECT "MYSTERY SHIP"

Woonsocket has never had an air meet before, and, although one or two ships have flown off the port during the summer, nothing in the way of an aerial celebration has ever before been seen in the city. The sponsors of the meet, headed by Montgomery, with the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations solidly lined up, expect 10,000 spectators for each day of the show.

Barry has been in communication with Maj. R. G. Erwin, manager of the eastern division of Shell gasoline, to secure the services of the Travel Air "mystery ship" owned by the company. According to Barry, the chances of the presence of the ship are very good, and if it comes, it will set a speed record for the distance from New York to Woonsocket.

Athletes Slipping, Autos Are Blamed

New York, July 25 (US)—Athletes are not what they used to be—and automobiles are the reason, John F. Moakley, coach of the Princeton-Cornell track team, bewailed on his arrival last night in the White Star liner Homeric.

Moakley, who has been associated with sports for 31 years and was Olympic head coach in 1920, said that automobiles are eliminating the best exercise, walking. He had nothing to say against the Princeton-Cornell team, which defeated Oxford-Cambridge in England seven games to five.

Charges 80 P. C. of His Police Take Graft

Youngstown, O., July 25 (US)—Mayor Joseph Heffernan threatened yesterday to seek federal aid if his police force is not able to halt the invasion of Al Capone interests.

He declared that 80 per cent of the men on the force are accepting graft. For this reason his hope for effective assistance from this source was not great, he said. He was determined, however, that the situations which have developed in Chicago and Detroit should not be duplicated here, if he had to call on Washington for help to prevent it.

"Now I Feel 100% Better"

"People told my mother how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was for young girls, so I took it. I used to feel miserable at certain times but now I feel 100% better and have gained a little in weight too. I am only nineteen years old. I do not work but of course I help mother with the housework. We are both much pleased with the results from the Vegetable Compound and we recommend it to other girls who need it."—Bernice M. Murray, 10 Colonial Street, Waterville, Maine.
